COLONIAL CEYLON

Sri Lanka has been the center of islands in the Indian Ocean for travelers passing by even before thousands of years hence they became a part of our history from ancient days. Firstly Portuguese visited Ceylon when Lourenço de Almeida arrived in 1505, and founded a fort at the port city of Colombo in 1517 and progressively extended control over the coastal areas. Many Ceylonese were converted to Christianity.

The Colonial ruling granted many resources to Sri Lanka, Architectural growth was vast as they built many forts in all main sea ports of the island which was later expanded by the Dutch. The Galle fort, Matara Fort, Trinco and Batticaloa in the East Coast and the forts in Jaffna and Kalpitiya are remarkable. English took over the forts and further transferred during the Napoleonic War to trade mark their presence. The most attractive buildings were constructed during the English period, especially in central locations such as Colombo, Galle, Jaffna, East Coast and Kandy.

We at Infinit Luxury Travel offers the best tours to visit the land mark buildings such as The grand Oriental Hotel in Colombo, the Colonial buildings in the Colombo Fort area, Galle Face Hotel, Queens Hotel in Kandy, Colonial buildings in the Hill country and the North and East Coasts

TESTIMONIALS

"We had the most wonderful time in Sri Lanka and is one of our best trips so far. Thank you for all your efforts and allocating Ajith as our guide who did an excellent job in taking care of us and his driving was very safe. He has a very good knowledge about Sri Lanka. We will highly recommend Infinit Luxury Travel and Guide Ajith for all our future referrals."

— Dianne & Family from UK

"Absolutely superb!! Is all I can say. We had a memorable time with all my friends and now thinking of coming back with our families once again to your lovely country. Your guide Dilan was far better than excellent. His has a great sense of humor and made our day. Thank you for your prompt replies from the time we started corresponding. We sent the initial inquiry to few more agents but yours came in first and we knew from there onwards we are going to be in safe hands. A big Thank you to all at Infinit Luxury Travel. A good team work."

— Joanne and friends from Australia

"Dear John, Thank you for a lovely family holiday, We had the best driver and the best van."
